German Armies Squeezed in Italy and Russia

Wait for Argentina to Clean Out Nest of Axis Espionage

Germany Tries to Act Nonchalant—Says England Will Suffer

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—Argentina's new position in relation to the rest of the America's probably will be clarified when and if she again applies for lend-lease arms and supplies.

A request for such aid is expected as soon as Buenos Aires has completed re-orientation of her foreign policy begun yesterday when she severed diplomatic relations with Germany and Japan.

The issue is considered by the Argentinians to be of immense importance because they see themselves suffering as a South American power in relation particularly to Brazil, which as a full-fledged fighting ally of the United States has been receiving arms and equipment since 1941.

What Washington's reaction will be, however, probably will depend on the extent to which the Buenos Aires government has gone by then in cleaning up axis spy nests, propaganda and revolutionary intrigue within her borders. It probably will depend also on the need Argentina can show for lend-lease in the interests of hemispheric defense and the allied war effort.

Brazil, which has received the bulk of the lend-lease material furnished to Latin America, is not only fighting side-by-side with United States and Allied forces in the western hemisphere but began several weeks ago to send an expeditionary force abroad.

The subject of lend-lease help for Argentina was last broached in August, two months after the revolutionary regime of President General Pedro Ramirez seized power. Secretary of State Hull rejected the request.

SAYS ENGLAND LOSES

London, Jan. 27—(AP)—German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop decried today what he termed Argentina's surrender to United States "benevolence" and declared that in the end England, not Germany was the loser by the Argentine severance of diplomatic relations with the axis.

"The United States tried for years to bring about a rupture of diplomatic relations between the Argentine government and the axis," Von Ribbentrop was quoted in a dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio.

"She did not shrink from any means, any blackmail to achieve her purpose. The Ramirez government has now yielded to pressure and surrendered the sovereignty of the country to United States 'benevolence'.

No German Espionage?

"The motivation given in Buenos Aires for the break—the alleged participation of members of the German embassy in an espionage affair—is completely untrue. It is merely further proof that the Argentine government is not master of her own decisions any longer.

"Germany practically loses nothing x x x neither in regard to prosecution of the war nor in post-war interests. The real loser in this diplomatic act is England. England, in the course of the war has been compelled to sacrifice the major part of her central and South American interests to the United States ally. She finally is

Amboy Sailor Killed in Bomber Crash on West Coast Yesterday

Junior Leland Bridgman, 18, seaman, second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bridgman of Amboy, was killed in the crash of a scout bomber in Tomales bay, near San Francisco, Calif., the navy headquarters announced today. The pilot, Ensign John V. Raymond, 23, of Lowell, Mass., also died in the crash. The accident occurred Wednesday morning according to word received by his parents late yesterday. The body will be returned to Amboy accompanied by a naval escort and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Entering the navy in the July, 1943 call, Seaman Bridgman had recently been stationed at the naval base at San Francisco. His parents, and one brother, William, who was recently honorably discharged from the army survive him.

Bowles Fears Cost of Living Will Go on to Higher Level

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles told a senate labor subcommittee today further increases in living costs are inevitable unless he gets "the vigorous support of congress and the general public." He asserted that "efforts to hold the line against any further rise in the prices of food have been hampered by the continuing uncertainty on the use of subsidy payments."

Bowles, testifying before the Pepper committee inquiring into the economic status of white collar workers, termed the inquiry "unprecedented" because he said, he was accustomed "only to pressure from one direction."

"In the past when we have been called before any group in congress or elsewhere, inevitably it has been to explain why we have failed to raise the price of this product or that," he commented, adding that he shared the committee's concern for "the growing economic threat to the millions of people in the white collar and fixed income group."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) expressed the hope that reports from War Labor Board (WLB) Chairman Davis and Price Administrator Bowles will lead to a relaxation of federal wage controls as they affect the "white collar" worker.

The subcommittee chairman said testimony thus far indicated that many fixed-income workers "need tax relief, higher wages and more rigid price controls even to get by."

Over Two Million Lee County Quota in 4th War Loan

Employers Met Last Eve to Discuss Plans for the Drive

Lee county's Fourth War Loan campaign which has been under way for several days, was given added impetus at last evening's meeting at the Loveland Community House which was called by County Chairman Robert L. Bracken and to which all employers in Dixon were invited. The county quota of $2,180,200 is to be met as early as possible, and figures quoted by Chairman Bracken today indicated that about 13 per cent or approximately $300,000 has been subscribed. The county total is 12½ per cent greater than that assigned in the Third War Loan drive.

County Chairman Robert L. Bracken called the meeting to order and briefly urged the necessity for the raising of Lee county's quota of $2,180,200. The purchase of Fourth War Loan bonds, he stated was not to be considered a gift or donation, but a safety investment for which the investor will be paid for the use of his funds.

"We are merely saving our own homes, our families and our friends by loaning money at this time and no one is asked to give of their funds, but to invest in Fourth War Loan bonds. Those of us who are here will have the duty of convincing the others in Lee county of these facts."

Corporation Quota $900,000

Chairman Bracken stated that every employer in Dixon was appointed a member of a committee whose duty it will be to solicit their own employes. A quota of $900,000 has been assigned to corporations of Lee county he said, and appointed Harry Bates chairman of this committee.

L. G. Cannon, chairman of the campaign in Dixon announced the quota of $490,000 for the city. He explained the various plans to be considered by the employers in the sale of the bonds, and stressed the fact that no compulsion was to be used in the campaign but that purchases would be entirely voluntary, the drive closing Feb. 15.

William Porter of the Stewart Warner Co., operating the Green River ordnance plant announced that among all Stewart Warner plants G. R. O. P. ranks second in the purchase of war bonds. Since the company took over the operation of the G.R.O.P. he stated, slightly less than $1,000,000 in war bonds had been sold among the employes. At the close of business Wednesday afternoon, he added, employes of G.R.O.P. had pledged purchase of $136,000 of bonds in the fourth campaign and several thousand dollars in bonds

Two-Thirds of U. S. Army Overseas by End of This Year

Training Period Past Peak—Closing Many Training Camps

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—As present plans shape up, two-thirds of America's steadily growing army will be at overseas stations by the end of this year.

That was the word today from Secretary Stimson as he announced plans for closing a number of domestic army camps during the next few months and the transfer to combat units of a substantial proportion of the soldiers now aassigned to administrative duties.

To Retire Some Officers

In addition, a number of officers over 38, particularly those commissioned directly from civil life or in the national guard and reserve corps, will be placed on the inactive list because "no suitable assignments are available or in prospect either at domestic or overseas installations or establishments."

"The readjustments were dictated generally by the progressive shift of arms operations from the defensive to the offensive and by the growth of air power," said Stimson. "As of Dec. 31, 1943, approximately one-third of the army's strength was overseas. By the end of this year it is contemplated that two-thirds of the army will be overseas.

Closing Training Camps

With the peak of the training program past, the army already has placed a number of its facilities on a stand-by basis, or announced that it intends to do so. The air forces have relinquished 69 or more establishments, and the ground forces have begun to close up some of their training camps and other facilities, including Camp Atterbury, Ind., Pine Camp, N. Y., and the induction center at Fort Hayes, Ohio.

Stimson did not mention these specific instances, but asserted that "the army will no longer need all its present troop housing facilities x x x."

He announced that the war department has ordered physically qualified men in all branches of the army who have a total of more than 12 months service at fixed stations or "overhead activities" in the United States to be reassigned to combat units "or mobile activities ultimately destined for overseas service."

Enlisted men under 30 will be reassigned first according to the length of service in the United States. These reassignment orders will not apply to men who have served overseas at some time since Pearl Harbor, or to men with highly specialized skills which cannot be utilized overseas.

Replacements in Order

"Replacements for reassigned enlisted men," said Stimson, "when necessary, will be made first from civilians, next by Women's Army Corps personnel, then, in order, by men permanently disqualified for overseas service, men who have served overseas, recently inducted men with physical handicaps, enlisted men with less than 12 months service in fixed installations in the United States."

The department has not made public the list of camps which it proposes to close.

Monroe Center Flyer Helped Destroy Enemy Transport in Islands

New Georgia, Solomon Islands, Jan. 24—(Delayed)—(AP)—Lt. Arthur Behl of Monroe Center and Lanark, Ill., participated in the destruction of a 455-foot Japanese transport in Simpson harbor today.

The ship, 8,000 to 10,000 tons in size, was hit by four navy bombs from the TBF's of Behl, Lt. (jg) Everett E. Truly, Fayette, Mass., and Ensigns John Morrison, Ridgefield Park, N. J., and Robert Willaman, Chicago.

Truly said: "Behl and Morrison hit her first, a few seconds ahead of Willaman and me. I saw a tremendous flash and fire from their bombs. Then we hit the ship, the damn thing blew up and was burning and sinking when we left."

Germans Say Trials for Yank Prisoners Are Being Prepared

Stockholm, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter quoted informed German quarters today as saying that trials of American and British war prisoners—apparently in retaliation for the Kharkov trials of Germans accused of atrocities in Russia—now are in a "preparatory stage."

(This dispatch recalled that last Dec. 23 the German radio threatened that allied airmen now prisoners in Germany would be tried as war criminals. Berlin propaganda agencies made much at the time of charges that allied air raiders were gangsters and that one U. S. bomber shot down over Germany bore the name "Murder, Inc.")

Prescott Asks For Protection Against Criminal Patients

Says Chicago Courts Send Wrong Type of Cases to Dixon

Representative Lyle M. Prescott of this city today urged an immediate investigation into conditions exissting at the Dixon state hospital, following Sunday afternoon's assault upon 65-year-old Oscar Phelps, attendant at the male detention ward building, followed by the escape of nine Negro patients, who were classified as among the most vicious housed in the institution. Representative Prescott addressed a telegram to Rodney H. Brandon, director of the Department of Public Welfare at Springfield as follows:

"Realizing the seriousness of events taking place at the Dixon State hospital this past week, whereby nine colored patients brutally attacked their attendant, causing him near fatal injury, and escaping from the hospital grounds to menace the residents of this community, I herewith urgently request that a thorough investigation be conducted by yourself and staff for the purpose of prohibiting this situation and its recurrence in the future."

Courts are Criticized

Representative Prescott criticized judges of both the Chicago Municipal and Cook county Juvenile courts in the sentencing of dangerous criminals to the Dixon institution, contending that they would be more properly handled in a criminal institution. In his statement today, he said:

"I have no criticism to make of Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the Dixon state hospital, or any member of the staff, but I strongly protest against the slip-shod manner in which these vicious criminals are sent to this institution when they should be sent to another.

"I would also like to take this opportunity to question the authority of the Chicago Municipal and Juvenile court judges to commit criminals of this type to a state institution for the treatment of feeble minded and epileptics. The records of these nine men who escaped Sunday, indicate that they have no place in the Dixon state hospital or any other charitable institution, but should be incarcerated in an institution

Dies Outlines New Program of Probes

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Granted a new appropriation of $75,000, Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committee on Un-American activities today set out on a program of investigations that calls for inquiries into CIO, "Political Action Committee' has in mind. The investigation of "Peace Now", an organization advocating negotiated peace, already is under way, Dies disclosed, as is an inquiry into practices of the Cevil Service Commission.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Peculiar interest attaches to Foreign Secretary Eden's reaffirmation of the British policy of not recognizing wartime changes in the map of Europe—"unless they take place with the free consent and goodwill of the parties concerned."

The raison d'etre of this statement, is the Russo-Polish dispute over the territory occupied by the Soviet in 1939 at the time of the German invasion. Mr. Eden was replying in the house of commons to a question by a member. From long experience in reporting the proceedings of the house I know that questions sometimes are spontaneous and sometimes are inspired by the government in order to give it a chance to use commons as a sounding board to reach a wide audiencce.

In any event, when you weigh all the elements of this situation it's easy to believe that the foreign secretary seized this opportunity to emphasize something even bigger than the Polish imbroglio. It struck me that he may have made his main point when he said:

"His majesty's government of course stands on the principles enunciated in the Atlantic Charter."

So, if I'm on the right track, he was concerned not only with the Polish trouble but with the reaffirmation of the Atlantic Charter. And why should it seem expedient to reaffirm the charter?

Well, as this column has explained numerous times, many countries—especially in the Orient—have been suffering doubts and are anxious for assurances that this document, which was drawn up by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and has become the credo of the United Nations, means what it says. I discovered this during during a tour of the war theaters a year ago.

One of the eight points laid down in the Atlantic Charter declares that "they (Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill) desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned." What is more natural than that the world should wonder whether this applies to the Polish affair and, if it does, just how it will be implimented.

There are a lot of angles to this question. For instance, who are the "peoples concerned"? Are the inhabitants of pre-war eastern Poland to decide whether they want

New U. S. Program Gets Jobs for Vets

(By The Associated Press)

War veterans, some of them wounded and leaning on canes, made their way into offices in seven cities across the nation today to take advantage of the federal government's new expanded program to find them work.

Some were in uniform, others back in civilian garb. Many were accompanied by their wives and sweethearts.

The number of applicants ran into scores in some cities as the program got underway yesterday. A large number obtained jobs before the day ended.

One wife said she "practically had to drag" her husband to the office, he was so low in spirit. He got a job. There even was a sailor looking for work during his 30-day leave.

The demonstration offices, as they were described by Federal Security Administratior Paul V. McNutt, are located in Denver, Colo.; New Haven, Conn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Houston, Tex.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Minneapolis, Minn., and Philadelphia, Pa.

The new set-up included larger placement staffs, greater coordination with employer representatives and increased emphasis on finding suitable jobs for disabled men.

Boost Point Cost on Beef, Lamb and Veal for February

One to Two Point Hikes Will be Effective Sunday

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—One to two-point hikes in the February ration point values on most cuts of beef, lamb and veal were announced by the Office of Price Administration today.

More brown stamps will be required also for all types of cheese and the values on pork loin cuts will be one point higher next month. The ration cost of all other pork cuts will remain unchanged.

Butter continues at 16 points a pound but there will be slightly more available, OPA said. Lard values are advanced one point to three points a pound.

The new schedule, effective Sunday, Jan. 30, calls for two-point increases on beef steak cuts, with revised values ranging from eight to twelve points a pound. Most other beef cuts, including roasts and stews, get a one-point boost.

For veal, lamb and mutton cuts, one or two-point increases are fairly general.

Cheddar cheese goes from 10 to 12 points a pound in the new table and cream cheese is raised from eight to ten points. Swiss, munster, bleu and other similar cheeses are up four points to a total of 12.

With the exception of oysters which continue at present levels, all canned fish is given a four-point reduction, being listed at 12 points a pound as compared with the previous 16.

Among canned meats, dried beef is raised two points to 16 a pound, while two-point cuts are ordered for canned pork sausage, beef tongue and vienna sausage.

Sliced dried beef in bulk gets a 14-point value, up two points a pound.

Explaining the boosts in meat point values, OPA said the total retail supply for February is estimated at 1,400,000,000 pounds, while the January total was approximately 1,600,000,000 pounds.

Of the amount available for next month, pork constitutes about half the total, at around 750,000,000 pounds, the agency said.

"I want to stress the point," said Price Administrator Chester Bowles, "that we are making sure that there are enough ration points to buy up all the meat available to civilians in February.

"We would rather take the chance of having too many ration points in the hands of housewives, which may cause possible local shortages of some kinds of meat, than to have any waste because of insufficient points."

Pork loin cuts—such as roasts, center and end chops and tenderloin—were raised a point, OPA explained, because these choice items are becoming relatively scarce in some parts of the country.

Excessive consumer demand caused the hike of cheese values, OPA said.

New Point Values

Beef

Steaks: porterhouse 11, up 2; T-bone 11, up 2; club 11, up 2; rib-10-inch cut 8, up 1; rib-7-inch cut 9, up 1; sirloin 10, up 2; sirloin boneless 12, up 2; round (full

Claude L. Marks, an Employee at Medusa, is Victim of Bad Accident

Claude L. Marks, 1216 Highland avenue, switchman at the Medusa Cement Co. plant east of Dixon, suffered the loss of his right arm in an accident to which there were no witnesses and which occurred about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. He was reported to have been at his duties in the coal storage yards north of the River road where two empty cars were being switched when passing a crane used in loading coal, the heavy bucket, weighing more than a ton, dropped.

The bucket struck the rails and bounced, hitting Marks on the right arm. Other employes heard the heavy steel bucket strike the rails and the moving train stopped almost at once. Whether the accident victim was riding on one of the empty cars or was on the ground when the unusual accident occurred is not known. He was rushed to the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, where it was found that the arm was so badly crushed it was necessary to amputate the member between the elbow and shoulder.

"Congress Has No Authority to Take Vote to Soldiers"

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Senator Millikin (R-Colo) told the senate today that if congress overrides the states' constitutional rights to prescribe the method of electing presidential electors, it would be acting as a "revolutionary usurper."

Challenging the contention of supporters of the administration's service vote bill that congress has war-time powers to set aside the states' authority over elections, the Coloradoan asserted that if that were true, "congress could depose the president by legislative action," and could abolish elections and do away with the supreme court.

"The conclusion is inescapable," Millikin said, "that when congress overrides the constitutional rights granted to the states in regard to elections, it is acting as a revolutionary usurper."

Millikin took the floor in the fourth day of debate on a measure endorsed by President Roosevelt which would establish a federal war ballot on which members of the armed forces at home and abroad could vote for president, vice president, senator and congressman by writing in the name of the candidate or merely designating his party choice.

Accurate Bombing Sinks 7 Jap Ships in Rabaul Harbor

Avenger Torpedo Bombers in Masterful Exhibition

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Making every bomb count, 18 Avenger torpedo bombers in a masterful demonstration of accuracy sank or left sinking seven ships in the harbor at Rabaul Monday while more than 80 escorting fighters shot down 24 and possibly 28 out of 60 Japanese intercepting planes.

A South Pacific spokesman, elaborating on headquarters official announcement today of the raid, said the fighters afforded the Avengers such brilliant coverage that the Nipponese over their supposedly strong New Britain air base got through for only one run at the bombers.

Utilizing what the pilots call a "side - plitting bombing from a low level glide," the Avengers sent their 2,000 pound bombs into the sides of the ships at the waterline. Every bomb hit a ship.

Four cargo ships and a tanker were observed to sink. Three other cargo ships were damaged severely and a South Pacific naval spokesman said two of these were "left sinking." Another tanker also was damaged.

The latest strike at Rabaul brought the enemy's cost of maintaining that base to at least 26 ships sunk or damaged and more than 350 planes destroyed during January.

(In contrast with recent statements by allied pilots that the Japanese still had their "first team" at Rabaul, Associated Press war correspondent Vern Haugland quoted fliers returning from the attack Monday as saying "the Jap pilots today were flying like a bunch of high school kids.")

Fine Rescue Work

While the latest attack was in progress, rescue planes not only picked up the downed Corsair fighter but also saved army Lt. Glen Hart, of Verdon, Neb., a Lightning pilot shot down Jan. 17, and also the crew of an Avenger torpedo bomber lost during a Rabaul raid Sunday. The rescuers actually increased the South Pacific air personnel roster over the previous day by four.

Headquarters also reported the heaviest in a growing series of raids against the Japanese in the Admiralty Islands. Eight enemy fighters were destroyed Tuesday on the Lorengau airdrome; a petty was wrecked; and a small freighter was engulfed by flames in the harbor.

On the ground fighting scene, American invasion forces at Arawe, on New Britain's southwest coast, sent out patrols without contacting Japanese; at Borgen bay, on the northwest coast, the Marines added 30 Japanese to the more than 3,000 slain since the invasion there opened last Dec. 26; but there were no new reports on the resumed drive by Australians in the Ramu valley of New Guinea aimed at the enemy coastal base of Madang less than 40 miles north of them.

Heavy Battle Will Soon be Waged for Rome Says Stimson

Germans Below Rome Feel Pressure From Fifth Army

By RICHARD McMURRAY

Fifth Army troops tightened the squeeze on 100,000 Germans in central Italy today with local advances around bristling Cassino and limited gains 60 miles north in the Rome bridgehead.

An even greater squeeze was applied to a quarter million Germans in northern Russia by Red armies pressing south and west of Leningrad and west of Novgorod after rupturing major enemy communications, killing 55,000 and capturing 6,000 in violent offensive actions along 100 miles of slushy snow. Pravda said the Novgorod army had reached the Luga river at a point about ten miles east of the Leningrad-Vitebsk railroad.

Argentina, after handing passports to the German and Japanese ambassadors, ordered her merchant ships to remain in port until protective steps could be taken.

The RAF estimated that a record 31,000 tons of bombs had been dropped on the Germans in January from allied planes striking from Britain and the Mediterranean. Marshal Tito asserted that his Yugoslav partisan army had liberated 70 per cent of central Bosnia and occupied Prnjavor.

In Italy field dispatches said American troops had advanced within a half mile of Cassino, already abandoned by the nazis. Ten miles to the north, the French advanced to Mt. Velbedere, cutting the road to Atina.

The Hermann Goering division reached the southern edge of the Rome bridgehead and it was repulsed in an attack on the fringes of the Pontine marshes with 120 killed. Warships again bombarded the Appian Way near Formia to tangle German communications. The Eighth Army front near the Adriatic was relatively quiet save for two German attacks which were beaten back near Orsogna.

Bad weather curtailed flying although light bombers struck Cisterna and Itri on the Appian Way and inland Ceccano, 30 miles due west of Cassino. Fighters maintained constant patrols over the battlefields.

The Russian capture of Krasnogvardeisk, 30 miles south of Leningrad, complicated the German defense problem in the north. The big junctions of Tosno, Luban and Chudovo tottered.

The Russians said 40,000 Germans had died and 3,000 surrendered in the first 12 days of the Leningrad battle alone. The bulk of the other casualties were on the Novgorod front.

The orphans' winter had turned the battlegrounds of the north into quagmires, seldom seen around Leningrad in January. In the lower Ukraine, repeated German counterattacks continued on the approaches to the Odessa-Warsaw railroad.

EXPECT HEAVY BATTLE

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A heavy battle probably will develop south of Rome as the Germans attempt to drive the allied amphibious forces which landed at Nettuno back into the sea, Secretary of War Stimson predicted today.

So far, the position of the allied forces is favorable and enemy opposition has been extremely weak, he said. But he added that there is every reason to expect violent German reaction in an effort to save their communications between Rome and the southern front in Italy.

The landing last Saturday, Stimson told a news conference, apparently achieved a complete tactical surprise. There was no opposition on the beaches—the critical phase of any landing operation—and the only casualties in the initial phases came from exploding land mines, the war secretary reported.

Reviewing the strategy preceding the Nettuno landings, Stimson said a heavy attack by the 5th army farther south pulled German reinforcements in that direction. He said three German divisions, presumably from reserves previously held in the Rome area, have been reported identified among the forces opposing the British, American and French troops of the 5th army.

During the landings, Stimson reported, German planes using controlled glider bombs "sank a brilliantly lighted and plainly marked British hospital ship

Recreation Center For Youths Needed Greatly in Dixon

Peoples Column Contributor Points Out Social Structure Fault

Editor's Note—The following article, contributed by a reader, is worthy of special note as it points out a fundamental weakness in the set-up in Dixon so far as recreational spots for young people go.

It's about time the parents of young people realized that Dixon needs a youth recreation center. There is the Stop Over station for soldiers, the Community building for oldsters, organizations open to grown-ups, but no center for the youths.

Where do high school students spend their spare time? What are Dixon's recreational opportunities? May I call attention to a few "youth centers."

Confectionaries, Tony's, Fulf's, Giannoni's, et al., rank number one. What recreation is provided? Talking, mostly. And whoever got anywhere blowing off steam except Robert Fulton and John L. Lewis!

Second are the theatres. Upon inquiry you find that many youths see almost every movie that comes to town "just for something to do." Bowling alleys receive a large high school patronage.

Meeting places of a surprising percentage of the boys are Dixon's "recreation centers," Vaile's and James' billiard parlors. There are a few other "centers" that go better unmentioned.

Notice that all these places are commercial establishments that would logically have their own profits rather than the youths' best interests in mind.

What, then, is needed? A juvenile night club is the answer. Containing a fountain, booths and tables, dance floor, and game room, it would be open to young people evenings. A meeting place and spare time center, it could be regulated by a board of elders with admission by membership card.

The SACS club, representative of all interested high school students, could provide the cooperation necessary if any group would provide the capital and capabilities to put through a program for a youth recreation center.

Russ Show Group of Correspondents Murdered Soldiers

By Henry C. Cassidy

Smolensk, U. S. S. R., Jan. 26—(AP)—A party of American and British correspondents were taken today to the grim Katyn forest 10 miles outside Smolensk and shown the scene where a special Soviet investigating commission charges the Germans shot thousands of Poles one by one in August and September of 1941.

The German tale that the Poles were shot by the Russians in March and April of 1940 was described by the commission as "provocation."

A special train took the correspondents to the scene where they were shown bodies in mass graves, medical experts at work making post mortem examinations and the special commission hearing testimony of witnesses.

Americans among the party included Miss Kathleen Harriman, daughter of United States Ambassador W. Averill Harriman, and John Melby, Bloomington, Ind., third secretary of the embassy, who accompanied the correspondents at the embassy's request.

The conclusions already reached by the special Soviet atrocities commission were:

1. "It is established that in August and September of 1941 the Germans killed Polish prisoners of war on the Goat Hills (in Katyn forest)."

2. "Feeling their position insecure, the Germans hastened to cover up their crime. For this purpose they opened the graves and tried to find witnesses, brought bodies from other graves and mounted provocation."

Correspondents were shown documents taken from Polish bodies dated as late as June 20, 1941, which would make the German explanation of the mystery impossible, saw evidence that the bodies had been in the ground only about two years and heard testimony confirming the soviet version.

The scene of the crime was a sparse cluster of pine trees on the Goat Hills above the upper Dnieper just off the Smolensk-Vitebsk highway 10 miles west of Smolensk where seven gaping open graves exposed indisputable evidence that thousands of Poles had been killed.

Prof. Victor Ilyich Prozorovsky, medical expert in charge of the exhumation, said more than 700 bodies already had been removed from the tombs and estimated the total at 11,000.

A tiny safety device must be located, by means of a slender stick, in each fuze which is later assembled in a 75 mm. shell. An operation so simple . . . and yet so important, for it assures the safe handling of the ammunition from the time it is loaded till it is fired at our enemies.

MISS RETTA SLOTHOWER IS— RETIRING AFTER TEACHING FOR MANY YEARS IN DIXON

Following Her Resignation, Faculty Members and Friends Arrange Dinner Party to Honor Their Co-Worker

In Miss Retta Slothower, Dixon has had an experienced school teacher, counselor and good friend. She has been all this and much more to the scores of pupils she has had in her school rooms for the many years she has taught in Dixon schools.

Starting right after she finished school Miss Slothower taught her first year in a country school where she remained for about a year. Following this she started her teaching at the E. C. Smith school on the south side of Dixon, which was then known as the "Red Brick" school. From there she went to the Truman school, which at that time was located on West Third street, where she became principal of the school and held this position for thirty-two years.

The Truman, E. C. Smith and Woodward school, when they were in existence, were for only younger children, but were united to make up what is now known as the Lincoln school. Miss Slothower has held a teaching position at Lincoln up until the time she handed in her resignation in December.

During all her years of teaching she has experienced the nicest compliments that could possibly be extended to anyone. Many former pupils would drop in from time to time, long after they had studied under her tutorship, have a little chat, be on their way, leaving with a "Just wanted to say hello." What could be nicer than to know she had the affection and lasting friendship of pupils who had been students of hers at such a tender age. The second, third and fourth grades were the ones Miss Slothower taught during her career and to have students come back after growing to a more mature age, is indeed a compliment to be treasured.

Before retiring from her job in December, Miss Slothower was presented with a beautiful strand of pearls with matching earrings from her students, together with the students in other grades at Lincoln school who had been pupils of her before going on to the higher grades.

At 6:30 o'clock last evening Supt. and Mrs. A. H. Lancaster, the teachers of Lincoln school, and the supervisors, met at Hotel Dixon to honor Miss Slothower at a dinner and program.

Sweetpeas and acacia boughs decorated the dinner table with pink candles on either side of the centerpiece. Pink and white nut cups marked each place at the dinner table.

Mr. Lancaster offered greetings and a toast following dinner, and Miss Esther Barton, principal of Lincoln school, related several humorous school incidents, calling on the group to add to the informal entertainment. There was group singing under the direction of Miss Harriet Wiltberger with Mrs. Margaret Richards at the piano.

In paying tribute to Miss Slothower and her long teaching career, Miss Barton presented her with a gift from the group and also a bouquet of flowers.

Phidian Art Club Hears Mrs. John Roe as Speaker

The Phidian Art club met on Tuesday with Mrs. I. W. Walter. After the regular business meeting, Mrs. W. A. McNichols, the president, in her usual charming way, introduced the speaker of the afternoon. This was Mrs. John Roe and her subject was "The East, Land of History and Tradition."

Mrs. Roe developed her aspect of this large title in a most unique way. She chose only a part of the "East", New England and New York. Here, too, she selected a most interesting study, for she spoke only of people—of how and why New Englanders are what they are. Also why New York is the most marvelous melting pot in the world, not an American city at all, but a world city which could exist nowhere else.

The speaker seemed to prove all over again that the United States has given, and is giving, to everyone who comes here as a citizen, a chance to develop his talents, and in addition, raised the hope that in the future this will become the glory of our country.

The afternoon ended with guests gathering around the tea table which was gaily decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. McNichols presided.

A Thought for Today

Receive my instruction, and not silver; and knowledge rather than choice gold.—Proverbs 8:10.

Knowledge, too, is itself a power.—Bacon.

Thy Way Shall Be My Way

The railroad brotherhoods have been subjected to bitter excoriation for their threat to strike at a time when any transportation tieup might cost us that complete victory for which we are fighting—at a time when, certainly, it would cost the lives of thousands of American soldiers, sailors, marines and merchant seamen.

Except for professional unioneers, there has been little disagreement with the "high source" who described the brotherhoods' action as "the damnedest crime ever committed against America."

The same feeling extends to the strike of steel workers and to other lesser stoppages.

All of which sent us back to William Shakespeare, who died long before the modern union movement arose but who yet lives because human nature changes little through the ages. It was Shylock in the Merchant of Venice, explaining why he insisted upon his pound of flesh, who told Antonio's friend, Salarino:

"The villainy you teach me I will execute, and it shall go hard but I will better the instruction."

Or, as the union leaders might tell President Roosevelt, paraphrasing slightly the words of an old song:

"You made us what we are today: We hope you're satisfied."

For most of 10 years Mr. Roosevelt's administration devoted itself to building up the union movement—not merely to freeing working men from ruthless domination and exploitation by powerful employers, but to reversing the situation so that the unions were given legal prerogatives that employers never have had in modern times, while employers were deprived by executive law of prerogatives that workers always possessed in theory, whether or not they were able to exercise them.

By precept and example the unions were taught to hold in contempt and distrust anybody who had either money or position of authority. By Supreme court interpretation of the statutes, they were assured that they were above all laws applicable to others.

A Michigan governor who accepted the first great sitdown strike was repudiated by his constituents, and then promoted by the administration to head the Department of Justice, from which any control over union excesses would have to spring, and later was placed on the bench of the Supreme court.

The American workingman is not dumb. He can take a hint, if it is broad enough and is repeated with sufficient frequency. He got the idea, and he learned the lesson well.

What he does not apparently understand is that the morality approved against private economic adversaries does not apply when it is the administration that is embarrassed, and his country is at war.

Polish Integrity

The British, we are told, are displeased because the Polish government-in-exile insists that pre-war Poland must be kept intact. This forces an issue that Britain, and also the United States, would like to duck. It is hard to see how it can be evaded.

The historical background seems clear. Eastern Poland originally was Russian. It was squeezed out of Russia soon after World War I and the Bolshevist revolution. It remained Polish, then, until 1939.

World War II started when France and Great Britain, after trying every possible placatory method of appeasing Hitler, at last informed him that attack upon Poland would be considered a cause for war. Knowing British military weakness and French impotency, and probably considering this warning to be another bluff, Hitler sent his blitzkrieg into Poland. One major reason he took this chance was his protective pact with Russia.

No sooner had the nazis entered Poland from the west than the Reds came in from the east. They divided the country between them. Up to that time and for almost two years more Russia was an ally of Germany, against whom the British and French had declared war to protect their treaty ally, Poland. It was not until June, 1941, that Hitler attacked Russia, and turned her into an ally of Great Britain and, eventually, of the United States.

On July 30, 1941, Russia signed another pact of friendship with Poland. In this Stalin renounced all claim to the territory seized in September, 1939, in collusion with Germany. That includes the regions which the Reds now are beginning to reclaim from the nazis.

Moscow now, through its embassy in Washington, announces flatly that the territory in question is hers and she is going to keep it—and what is anybody going to do about it? No mention is made of the renunciation executed in 1941, when Russia needed badly all possible assistance from Poland's friends, Britain and the United States.

The Polish government is disturbed. It protests. And small wonder. Winston Churchill says he did not become head of his majesty's government to preside over the empire's dismemberment. Perhaps the Polish government, which met disaster through trusting overmuch to Franco-British assistance, feels the same way.

Smashed Bottleneck

When this nation first attempted to convert from civilian to war production there was pressing need for machine tools, and that relatively small but very vital industry was pressed to the limit.

Today the machine tool bottleneck has been smashed so completely that this year only a fourth of the industry's capacity will be needed. The rest can be devoted to direct production through subcontracts.

It is to be hoped that, as soon as possible, machine tool plants will be permitted to begin preparing for reconversion to postwar use. The dangerous lag between war and peace production depends in considerable part upon availability of machine tools. The more this industry can do in advance, the less unemloyment there will be after the armistice.

PEONY fervently influenced the Doctor when Mr. H. Sanderson Sanderson-Smith invited him to join the CCCCC in Washington, D. C.

Peony yelled, "Oh, do it! Washington! We'll meet senators and generals and the President, and maybe it'll lead to your finally going into politics— Saaaay! When did our plan to make you a senator get lost in the shuffle?"

On the surface, the Cizkon was so idealistic that it dripped, and this was the department to which Dr. Planish was particularly assigned. In lectures and pamphlets, it shouted the best battle cries: "The traditional American right to work unhampered by labor racketeers," and "The menace to fundamental American institutions by foreign atheism and Jewish international socialism," and "The Founding Fathers' ideals of Free Enterprise, an Economy of Abundance, and Free Competition unchecked by sumptuary laws, so that the Poorest Citizen may have his chance in the race for fame and fortune against the wealthiest corporation or the most aristocratic and highly educated individual," and "The Cross and the Stars and Stripes—or the Assassin's Dagger and the Crossed Hammer and Sickle—WHICH?"

All that Dr. Planish had to do was to take the slogans he had believed in and turn them inside out. He was still in the Ideals and Public Improvement business, even if he had gone over to a competing firm, and his salary was now a comfortable $4500 a year. They had a thin tall house in Georgetown and they entertained senators—perhaps twice—and he and Peony and Carrie were happy—anyway, Peony was happy—anyway, Peony said she was happy.

The Cizkon's chief operative, Mr. H. Sanderson Sanderson-Smith, was an esthete.

If the sort of beefy, Hamilton-Frisby, football-squad, Skull-and-Bones, Meadowbrook-Club millionaires who always intimidated Dr. Planish also despised Sanderson-Smith, in revenge he knew how to make them tremble with his inside news about Jewish, Communist, and Scandinavian-Irish-farmer-labor conspiracies against them, and radicals now known to be manufacturing submachine guns in a cellar near St. Sebastian, North Dakota. He panicked them into giving him funds with which, as he caressingly put it, he would "put Bibles instead of tommy-guns into the horny hands of these sons of—well—of toil!"

THE bad luck of the Planishes seemed over. The Doctor had been in the new job only a year when Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected President, and during the experimentation of the New Deal, so alarming to the Better People, who liked to have the objects of their charity grateful and transient, the Cizkon became important as a safeguard against loose spending and the horrid heresy of maintaining that Democracy also included people who did not live in your block.

Years later, in the 1940's, even after America had entered World War II, Dr. Planish was interested to see that though H. Sanderson Sanderson-Smith himself was in prison on the astounding charge that he was a Nazi agent, other bodies were carrying on the ameliorative work of the Cizkon, with the slogans "The American Way of Life" and "The Sacred Right to Work" and "The Founding Fathers who laid down the principle of Free Competition" still frequently meaning that employers did not care much for union wage scales.

THROUGH all the Planishes' prosperity and social magnitude in Washington, the Doctor had spiritual trouble.

Whenever his former colleagues, Chris Stern and Dr. Kitto and Natalia Hochberg and Professor Buchwald and George Riot, all of them Reformers at whom the Cizkon had heaved a paragraph or two, came to Washington, the Doctor felt uncomfortably that they felt uncomfortably that he was no longer a Liberal. He tried to explain to them that, really, he was more of a Liberal than ever; he and Sanderson-Smith were all for Constructive and Enlightened Labor Leadership, and they opposed only the misleaders who made a living out of Labor. They seemed highly unconvinced by him or by the fervors of Sanderson-Smith for whom they adopted Peony's name of "Sneaky Sandy."

Dr. Planish tried to be jovial about it: "All right—all right! You get me as good a job with some liberal outfit in New York, and I'll leave Sneaky Sandy flat!"

He had, he felt, proudly, "called their bluff." But he was still disquieted, and he tried to explain it all to Peony, when she came in from a cocktail party to celebrate the anniversary of the repeal of Prohibition.

"Now get this, Peony. To be realistic, I must admit that the first purpose of any uplift organization must be to support the executives who give their time and good hard work to it—like a doctor or a preacher. But I do feel that if I make my living out of a movement to strengthen the public morale, then it ought—well, it ought to try and do some strengthening, don't you see?"

"See what?" said Peony.

He went on, thinking aloud. "And I'm afraid Chris Stern is right. The Cizkon isn't really liberal. Chris is probably just as much of a fourflusher as Sneaky Sandy—just as crazy to get power and publicity—only he's a careerist on the right side, and Sandy is on the wrong side."

Peony sniffed, "So what? He's a Liberal, but he's practical."

"When was he ever liberal?"

"What's the diff? We get our salary, don't we?"

"In the long run, I think that an executive does better if he's known as a Liberal. By 1940, I'll wager there'll be more money—or rather, I mean a more dignified social position—in being associated with anti-Fascism than with Fascism. Besides, I'm an old-time Fighting Liberal, and a man with my battles behind me, I mean my battles behind me, he simply can't— No, no, it isn't fly-by-night advocates of individualism like Sneaky Sandy that come out on top eventually; it's proponents of communal discipline, like Col. Charles B. Marduc, the greatest promoter of widespread prosperity—"

"Want a drink?" said Peony.

"Of course I want a drink!" said Dr. Planish.

Fair Enough

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 27.—Our congress has made an absurd and horrible mess of the income tax, originally intended to raise money but now used frankly to handicap the efficient, diligent and/or just plain lucky few who are able to make big money, just as good golfers are compelled to concede strokes to the dubs. That chance in intent seems to be fixed now so there is no use arguing about it for the time being although the case might be reopened under a sincerely reactionary government after the war. But it is possible to simplify the law and the return, and this should be done right away because it is no exaggeration to say that as matters stand right now nobody understands the business of reckoning a tax and the best authorities just guess. It is certainly a bad law which compels the citizen to appeal to a lawyer or accountant to untangle the idiotic confusion of its language or waste time from his work to go into a hubble with a treasury agent who doesn't really understand it himself but goes by arbitrary interpretations from above. It is a bad law, too, which suddenly tags a citizen for a sum payable in one year equal to his entire income for that year or exceeding it; but that, too, is a little way off the point of today's essay.

The taxpayer with a fixed income certainly has a right to know how much he is going to owe for the current year so that he can adjust his living expenses and other commitments and earmark the tax money as he goes along. The withholding tax principle is the surest and most convenient for both government and citizen in the case of the person whose income consists of salary, commissions, bonuses and royalties; but it is used only sparingly and thus is no help to a great majority of the most productive class of income taxpayer.

Conscientious people want to pay their dues and would prefer never to touch that portion of their earnings at all. On the contrary, they would be greatly relieved if the law were so revised that their government took down its own share first by means of a checkoff at the source. This would eliminate not only the ordeal of preparing the crazy return which, in many cases, takes several days of great concentration and requires professional help, but also the bout with the reviewing agent who comes around long afterward and makes the victim go over the whole thing again. These agents formerly at least had political malice and bullied the taxpayer and hit with arbitrary rulings in the treasury's favor on questioning which could have been decided the other way. Henry Morgenthau took notice of this abuse to the extent of warning his men to cut it out after publicity had shown up specific instances of spite against individuals. It may have been discontinued, but even so there are many taxpayers now subject to this bothersome review who could be relieved of the task by the checkoff.

The personal exemptions nowadays are mere tokens, to use a word which our European friends used to employ when they would send us 50 cents every now and again on account of their debts for World War I. It would be better to eliminate these deductions entirely and the paper work which they require, and adjust the matter by lowering the rate on the earlier brackets. It is not only the amount of the tax and the high rates in the upper brackets which burden the taxpayer but also his uncertainty as to what he is going to owe, his inability, therefore, to make any sensible provision to meet the bill, and the terrible job of reading the instructions and filling out the return.

This is not written with intent to ridicule congress which has taken a bad beating from both the executive branch and elements of the press in recent years. Our statesmen didn't create this grotesque situation intentionally but did so under political pressure from the socialistic and other leftish powers. But the whole effect is simply awful and the worst reproach to congress as an institution that has occurred in the whole Roosevelt rule. And people who have struggled through this year's experience may be pardoned for reflecting that only a congress of fools or deliberate saboteurs of popular faith in the legislative branch could have invented such a painful and inefficient snarl.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Prohibited)

Washington, Jan. 25—Mr. Willkie's withdrawal from the California primaries was accompanied by a dual announcement that Governor Warren is not a candidate and the state will be uninstructed—but, around here, Warren is looked upon as the likely vice-presidential nominee.

His state has a sizeable bloc of 50 delegates to the nominating convention, while he has assumed a position of complete neutrality, his friends seem generally less neutral toward Willkie than toward Dewey.

A ticket of Dewey and Warren is one toward which most of the party authorities around here seem headed.

The news of this California development broke privately first several days before publication, in a session of the Republiccan national committee in Chicago. There too, the lines were drawn tighter between Willkie and Dewey, with none of the candidates getting much attention from the committeemen.

The Associated Press poll showed about an equal division of candidates, but the most important fact of the poll was that less than half the committee voted.

This does not necessarily mean that half the committee is still undecided, or that it is pledged to minor candidates. One excuse for their absence from the results was that the newsmen were unable to locate a substantial number of the committeemen.

Especially significant was the lack of strong party backing for either Governor Bricker or General MacArthur. Bricker's speeches apparently have not roused the state leaders out in the country, and there was no evidence of formidable organization work in his behalf.

As a party matter, MacArthur has always been a candidate of a few interested persons like Senator Vandenberg. A national publicity campaign for him is underway, but apparently it has not had much effect on the state leaders.

No real test of strength was made between Dewey and Willkie. The Hoosier-New York dropped his threatened contest against Chicago as the convention site because he did not have a chance to win. In fact, we could not get his fight started. The New York hotel men, with all rooms jammed to the doors continuously, did not care to donate the kind of money Chicago was offering. Furthermore, no other city wanted the convention.

If he had pursued the matter, he would probably have found no more than 20 votes in his behalf—slightly less than the number for him for president (estimates by Republican authorities here give him around 30 votes or less than one-third of the committeemen on that issue if the committee had been completely polled).

The inner situation thus clearly forecast a heavy struggle between the Dewey and Willkie forces for the nomination, with the odds apparently favoring a ticket of Dewey and Warren.

The Democratic national committee meeting was naturally thinly cut and considerably dried with Mr. Roosevelt and his associates no doubt unsurprised at the results. The declaration inviting the president to run for a fourth term would not have been considered if incompatible with the president's intentions.

Apparently this year, as four years ago, the Democratic convention could be held in a telephone booth at the White House—and probably will be.

Only issue in doubt on the surface at least, was the vice presidential nomination. The committee seems to like Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house, more than Vice-President Wallace. The theory behind Rayburn support is that with such an outstanding leader in the second chair, the president's difficulty with his major opposition within the party in congress could be avoided for the next four years.

The final vote on that may come from the telephone booth also.

SAILORS' UNION OBJECTS

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—A sailors' union today appealed to a house committee to investigate what it termed efforts of government agencies to require the union to put mixed crews of white and Negro seamen aboard ships.

Harry Lundberg, secretary-treasurer of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, informed the committeee that the union's New York office had been notified by Craig Vincent, regional representative of the recruitment and manning organization, War Shipping Administration (WSA), that from January 15, 1944, on, the union must "checker-board" its crews.

Underdog Cagers Have Opportunity Over Week End

Many of Illinois Basketball Pacesetters are Expected Reversal

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27—(AP)—Prep basketball competition has reached the stage where upsets aren't rare, and several games tomorrow and Saturday provide underdog teams with more opportunities to slow down some of the state's pacesetters.

Taylorville, heading the race with 25 straight wins, is host tomorrow to a team it beat earlier by 15 points—fast improving Mt. Vernon, (won 11, lost 7), whose prestige soared after last week's triumph over Decatur. Taylorville plays Carlinville Saturday.

Firewagon playing styles are matched in the meeting between Pinckneyville (18-0) and DuQuoin (16-3). A previous game between these strong southern teams went to Pinckneyville by nine points.

East Aurora (8-2), loser of an earlier 37-35 decision, seeks revenge against Elgin (9-1). So does Freeport (12-3) which meets East Rockford (9-1) for the second time. The winners will hold Big Eight leadership.

Other return contests, with the previous winner listed first, include Galesburg (12-2) vs. Monmouth (7-5), Rock Island (11-4) vs. Moline (6-9), Evanston (8-2) vs. Proviso of Maywood (13-5), Glenbard (10-2) vs LaGrange, Centralia (4-14) vs. West Frankfort (10-6), Thornton (10-0) vs. Argo, and Canton (13-1) vs. Pekin (9-7). Top rank league standings will be affected by each result.

Dundee (12-0) rates over Geneva, which it beat before, but faces strong East Rockford Saturday.

Ashton (15-1) after losing its first game last night, 32-27 to Rochelle, plays Forreston. Robinson (16-0) competes in the Wabash tournament, and Marmion of Aurora (14-0) engages Sterling.

Champs Have Pair

The state champions of Paris, tamed in five of 16 games, try their luck against Champaign (16-3) and Decatur (13-5). Champaign doesn't risk its lead in the Big 12, where the card shows Decatur at Bloomington (5-9), Mattoon (3-8) at Danville (6-2), Streator (12-3) at Peoria Central 4-7), and Danville at Springfield (2-5).

Here are a few other attractions:

Quincy (6-3), victor in its last four games, invades Jacksonville (13-5); University High of Urbana (17-1 tackles Fisher and Athens; Flora (10-4), leading the North Egypt after dethroning Lawrenceville, plays Olney (8-7).

West Frankfort at Salem, (14-5), and Herrin (14-3) at Christopher and Murphysboro (5-9) are three more southern features. Ottawa (7-3), which conquered Streator last Tuesday, meets DeKalb (9-2).

Edwardsville (16-4) and Collinsville 11-4) clash with Wood River (13-5) and Granite City (6-8), respectively, in southwestern loop headliners.

ILLINOISAN FACES TEST

Miami, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Jeanne Cline, pretty Bloomington, Ill., amateur, meets her toughest competition in the Helen Lee Doherty golf tournament today in a semi-finals match with Marjorie Row, Michigan State champion now of Anniston, Ala.

Miss Row backed up her earlier victory over medalist Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta by ousting the favored Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., yesterday, 5 and 3.

Miss Cline, a Rollings college student, advanced with a 4 and 2 score over Mrs. Thomas Nolan of Newcastle, Pa.

The other semi-final match found Mrs. George E. Wilcox, Jr., of Miami, facing Mrs. Frank Fuller of Coral Gables. Mrs. Wilcox went an extra hole to defeat Mrs. L. G. Pray of Washington yesterday, and Mrs. Fuller staged an upset by beating Mary Jane Wilson of Providence, R. I., 2 and 1.

GALLAGHER VICE PRESIDENT

Chicago, Jan. 27—(AP)—James T. Gallagher, who in 1939 left his job as a baseball writer for a Chicago newspaper to become general manager of the Chicago Cubs, has a new title with the club—vice president.

Gallagher, who took over the vice presidency vacated by the retirement of Charles (Boots) Weber, will retain his title of general manager, however. He also is a director of the club.

Handsome Leading Man Turns Out to be Very Good Looking Starlet

Hollywood, Jan. 26—(AP) — Thestudio thinkers, noted for their agile mental footwork, abandoned today whatever hopes they may have had that they'd discovered a handsome new leading man and began wondering if perhaps they didn't have a potential pretty starlet.

The change of pace resulted yesterday when Tanis Chandler, 20, slim and indubitably feminine, who had played a role successfully in one film, essayed her little hoax again and was disclosed as a girl, a pretty one.

"The studios are always yelling about the lack of men," she commented later. "I thought I'd have better luck in male roles. Oh, well."

She's hoping, now that the jig is up, that they'll give her a chance in feminine roles. The embarrassed studio officials won't say.

Bowling Bits

By "FRIDAY"

In the Classic league at the Recreation alleys last night, Boynton Richards, held on to their two-game lead when they won two from Reynolds Wire. Hacket led the Clothiers with 527 and Adolph was high for Reynolds with 472.

Sunnybrook also stayed on in second when they won two from Chauffeurs Local. Keutzer led the latter five with 594 and John Smith was tops for Sunnybrook with 566.

To keep things unchanged Hill Bros. took two from Myers Royal Blue with Bob Hill turning in 582 to lead Hill Bros. and John Lange rolling 562 as high for Myers.

Harmon also won two from E. B. Raymonds to take fourth with 30-24, six games out. Willstead was high for Harmon with 544 and Bob Harridge rolled 552 to lead Raymonds.

The Stables went into a tie with James Billiards at 27-27 by taking the James Boys twice. Lloyd Duffy led the latter with 547 and Oscar Witzleb rolled 569 to top The Stables.

One game behind these two in the standings, is Hunter Co., after winning two sets from Shell Service, with Nelson leading the Lumbermen with 530 and Scanlon topping the Oilmen with 457.

Potts Market was the only team in the league to take three games last night, the Butchers pouring it on Nachusa with Treadwell having 549 to lead Potts and George Weigle leading Nachusa with 507.

United Cigar took two from the Dixon Cut Sole, with Roy Fitzsimmons leading the Loftus crew with 538 and Kolde rolling 532 as high for the Shoemen.

C. Keutzer of the Chauffeurs Local had the high series of the night with 594. High games were Duffy 201, Witzleb 225, Krug 221, Nelson 212, Harridge 213, Ostrander 201, Hopkins 200, Myers 201, Lange 209, R. Hill 222, Rosbrook 206, Treadwell 241, Brotherton 204, Keutzer 220, J. Smith 209, Ed Detweiler 217.

In case any of the new bowlers don't know Walt Klein, who was ceded into this year's City championship, we'll introduce him by telling them he's the kegler that turned in 138 in his first game last night for Sunnybrook. Flash Fordham who holds the low series from the Major league last week, was so well pleased that he repeated in the Classic last night with 455.

In the Commercial league tonight, there probably will be some changes made. Peter Pipers and the Round-Up are tied for first, with 32 wins and 16 losses and the Hatchery is third with 29-19, so the stage is set for a shake-up. The ten high average bowlers in this loop are:

Frank Daschbach	182
Cy Winebrenner	181
John Shultz	177
Melvin Sweeney	173
Bill Austin	169
Mike Dusing	168
Charlie Davis	168
Joe Vivian	168
"Pope" Vorhis	165
Harold Hoelscher	164

Seven games in the Classic league last night were decided by five pins or less, with the Sunnybrook-Chauffeurs match topping them all with Sunnybrook winning the first 915-914 their second 969-968 and losing the last one 928-924. Myers Royal Blue beat Hill Bros. one 917-912; Raymonds took Harmon 959 to 954; Shell Oil beat Hunters 875-870 and United Cigar won 961 to 959 from the Dixon Cut Sole five.

The refinishing of the alleys at Lincoln Lanes is progressing nicely and Proprietor Ed Holbrook is planning several match games for the opening next Tuesday evening at 6:00 o'clock.

Tonight at the Recreation following the Commercial league 40 or more women keglers will take over the alleys in their handicap singles tourney. A nice field is already assured, but there is still room for a few more and the entry list will be open until 9:00 p. m.

Also at the Recreation tomorrow night, following the Major league, the men will have a handicap singles event with bowling starting at 9:00 o'clock. This will be a full handicap affair.

As we mentioned once before several teams are losing members to the armed forces and if some of the boys that have just taken up the pin game, wish to break into a league this is a good time to do so. Quite a few are on the waiting list but you can turn your name in to Ken Detweiler and he may be able to find you a spot.

If anyone wishes to see the first round of the elimination for the City championship, they should remember it starts at 10:30 sharp, Sunday morning. This is for four games across eight alleys with the high eight scores staying in to try again the following weekend. It was necessary to bowl this Sunday morning on account of several of the competitors being out of town Sunday afternoon and evening, bowling in the Oregon tournament and several match games.

Filoff Off?

NOT THE BIG BLOW

Memphis — Hundreds of calls flooded the Commercial Appeal and police switchboards last night with queries:

"Is the war over? Have the Japs dropped bombs? Has Hitler been shot?"

The reason: A railroad engine whistle stuck.

INFLATION?

Baltimore: A Baltimore Evening Sun reporter toured downtown bars purely in the interests of a story, to check a report that martinis were shrinking.

He came back with the story: It isn't that the glasses are smaller—the olives are bigger.

HELPING HANDS

Los Angeles— Ralph A. Henderson slipped on an orange peel in a street car and fell. Two men helped him to his feet.

At a receiving hospital, he told police the men evidently also helped themselves.

Missing was his wallet containing $189.

COOKIES' TOUR

Chicago — Cpl. Frank E. Burnhame received his mother's cookies in the South Pacific in time for Christmas—but one year late. She had baked them in November, 1942.

His mother, Mrs. Christian Rehbein, has mailed another batch to the Marine. I hope he gets them by the time the war is over," she says.

CONFIDENCE EXCHANGE

Temple, Tex.— The Panther, Camp Hood newspaper, reports:

A G I on furlough wired his commanding officer: "Whosoever findeth a wife findeth a good thing: Proverbs 18:22. Therefore request five days extension. My confidence in you tells me you'll agree."

The commanding officer replied:

"Parting is such sweet sorrow —Romeo and Juliet, Act II, scene 12. Extension denied. My confidence in you assures me you'll be back on time."

IF A NEWSPAPER WERE RUN THE WASHINGTON WAY

H. I. Phillips

(Republished by permission of the New York Sun and associated newspapers.)

1—The paper decides to expand. It names a new managing editor, D. Cheavers McWinch.

2—The publisher, Oscar Bopps, is photographed giving McWinch the war hand of welcome.

3—Mr. McWinch is given the largest private office in the building, told he will have a free hand and asked if he would like fresh roses on his desk once or twice a day.

4—McWinch comes to work on the second day to find two strangers have moved in. He is about to make inquiries when a desk is moved in for a third.

5—He asks if there isn't some mistake. Two of the strangers smile and say, "Don't mind us, Mr. McWinch; we're just here to direct things." The third shows a letter naming him in complete charge.

6—McWinch tries to communicate with the boss, but finds his phone dead.

7—He decides that what the paper needs is three more star reporters. He asks for them, but he gets a couple of photographers, a janitor and one cheese sandwich on rye instead.

8—His attempts to clear this error up are under way when one of the strangers sharing his office puts on six cartoonists, decides to print the classified ads in color and abruptly orders him to run down to Callahan's and get him a container of coffee and a pack of cigarettes.

9—He finds circulation dropping fast and announces a plan to get new readers by getting out a better paper. Two of the three strangers ignore his suggestions and declare the thing to do to get circulation is to repaint the building, put in a new press and sell hot dogs in the elevators. The third stranger keeps out of the argument. He is very busy on a plan to build circulation by using green ink, making the city editor wear a zoot suit and having a bingo game in the front windows three afternoons a week.

10—McWinch begins to feel a bit cramped.

11—He decides to put the paper to press earlier and print more racing news. A fourth stranger arrives, takes over McWinch's desk and issues a statement that the key to success is to make an animated cartoon of the weather forecast, carry the baseball scores on the woman's page and give a free automobile tire to all readers over 100 years of age.

12—An office boy enters and says, "Message from the boss for Mr. McWinch." The strangers all snap, "There's nobody by that name in here."

13—McWinch finds the boss and asks if he remembers him.

14—The boss says the name is familiar, but he can't recall the face.

15—McWinch shows papers to prove that the boss hired him to run the paper. The boss says: "That was over 72 hours ago. You can't hold me to that."

16—A fifth stranger arrives.

17—The boss introduces him as the new chief.

18—The circulation manager rushes in to report everything dropping fast.

19—An edict from somebody nobody has heard of so far arrives ordering the paper published in an oval shape instead of rectangular, with the society news in Arabic, and no semicolons except on Saturdays.

20—McWinch resigns. Nobody pays any attention.

21—Two more strangers arrive to take charge. The room is now so congested that the boss is asked (to step outside and wait in a telephone booth until things clear up.

22—The boss says it is all due to a lack of teamwork.

PROCLAIM ROME IN SIEGE

Bern, Jan. 26 —(AP) —Dispatches from the Italian frontier today said that German authorities had proclaimed a state of siege in Rome as the progress of allied troops fanning out from their Nettuno bridgehead touched off a new wave of anti-nazi activity in the city.

These reports said that allied sympathizers had attacked German barracks and supply depots and that bombs had been thrown at military bureaus and at soldiers in the streets.

Several German officers were killed by these attacks.

Inefficiency Makes War Cost Twice It Should Says Byrd

Newark, N. J., Jan. 27—(AP)—Senator Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) says that "inefficiency and the lack of organization among the very numerous departments of the government have made the war cost at least twice as much as it should."

Byrd, chairman of the joint congressional economy committee, told the New Jersey Taxpayers Association last night that if President Roosevelt's most recent budget requests was approved by congress the total appropriated for war purposes would be $428 billion.

This, he said, would compare with $40 billion for the total cost of World War 1, including loans to our allies.

He said that if all the appropriations already made, and requested by the president in the new budget, were expended by July 1, 1946, after deducting revenue in that period, the net debt of the federal government would be $358 billion.

"At Washington", the senator said, "we have the greatest bureaucracy of all time. x x xNot even the most expert and best-informed of the government officials can name a majority of the alphabetical agencies that now govern us. This bureaucracy today has 3,063,379 paid employes (exclusive of the armed services). x x x The annual payroll of this civilian bureaucracy is over eight billion dollars. x x x Today the federal government has one civilian employe to every two and a half soldiers."

Daughters of Woman Killed at Drake Will Agree to Any Tests

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The daughters of Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, slain at the Drake hotel Jan. 19, agreed through their attorney, Floyd E. Thompson, today to take "any tests" required by police investigating the puzzling murder.

Thompson said the daughters, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody and Elizabeth Born, would appear later in the day at the central station where the police crime laboratory is located.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, had asked the daughters to agree to questioning under the lie detector in an effort to bring to light perhaps unremembered details that might cut through the maze of leads and clues that so far have produced no clear-cut theory for solution of the gold coast crime.

Crowley emphasized, however, that the proposed tests did not imply suspicion of any guilt.

Mrs. Goodbody, who was fired at but unharmed by the assassin, said her mother, wife of a state department attache, was killed by a middle aged woman wearing a Persian lamb jacket.

Reconstruction Is Approach of AFL to Postwar Problems

Miami, Fla., Jan. 27—(AP) — The American Federation of Labor's approach to the postwar problems is a reconstruction commission created by, and responsible to congress, with authority to make the over-all policy on reconversion, contract cancellation disposal of government property, and utilization of demobilized manpower.

The policy would be made by representatives of employers, labor and agriculture, with a chairman appointed by the president. Quarterly reports to congress would be required.

The AFL executive council heard these recommendations by its post-war committee, headed by Matthew Woll, yesterday and adopted them as its own. The council's winter meeting was expected to end today.

The council also announced it would sponsor a conference of employers, labor and agriculture in the near future to consider these problems. The conference will be financed by a $10,000 contribution from the Carnegie Foundation. Wool, answering news conference questions, intimated that the labor representation at the conference would be limited to the AFL. He said the Carnegie contribution was made "without strings."

No Whisky Distilled in 1944—Alcohol Needed For Synthetic Rubber

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—A war production board announcement today made it official that there will be no distilling of new whisky in the United States in 1944.

War needs will continue to require the full facilities of the distilleries, WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson said, noting that increased demands for industrial alcohol by synthetic rubber plants was an important factor in the decision against any resumption of beverage spirits output.

"INHUMAN TREATMENT" OF JAPS

New York, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Tokyo radio, reporting that much of the "inhuman treatment" of Japanese nationals by enemy nations at the start of the war had since improved, said today that 280,000 Japanese nationals are still in the United States and Hawaii.

Treatment received by the Japanese "has improved little by little as the results of our protests and other measures taken," said the broadcast, beamed to South America and recorded by U. S. government monitors.

It estimated at 550,000 the total Japanese nationals in countries at war with, or that have severed relations with Japan.

Coke Rationed to 30 Day Supply By Secretary Ickes

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Emergency restrictions were clamped today for the first time on retail deliveries of coke for domestic uses.

Interior Secretry Ickes, as fuel administrator, announced the regulations:

Domestic consumers with more than a 30-day supply of solid fuels are prohibited from receiving coke. Those with less may receive enough to make a 30-day supply.

The new controls, essentially the same as restrictions already in effect on coal, are designed to "spread the limited available supply of domestic coke as equitably as possible."

Slayer Told Wife he Murdered Girl Editor and Destroyed Body

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 27—(AP)—The wife of Walter W. Law, confessed slayer of Rose Brancato, woman's page editor, told the New Haven Register today in a signed statement that her husband had blurted out to her that he had committed the crime and had urged her to "come on. I want you to see the body."

State's Attorney Abraham S. Ullman said Mrs. Law had given him the same information.

Mrs. Law, whose 39-year-old husband and father of three children has signed a confession that he strangled the comely Miss Brancato, New Haven Journal-Courier editor, on July 5 last year and then fed her fully-clothed body into the furnace of a central building of which he was superintendent, stated:

"I knew about it. I never saw the body. The night it happened he was drinking; he didn't know what he was doing. x x x capable of the handling of the criminal element.

"Evidently after these men had been transferred from the Dixon state hosptal to the Illinois Security hospital at Chester, solely because of the bad records made here and previous to their committment, too much leniency was accorded their behavior records at Chester by the investigators, thereby causing their transfer back to the Dixon institution, with the outcome of Sunday's brutal attack upon an attendant and for some of this group, the second break for freedom within less than 24 hours."

The telegram to Director Brandon was followed by a letter in which Representative Prescott went into detail, and outlining certain recommendations for immediate consideration. He pointed out the growing fear among residents in the locality of the Dixon state hospital and the public visiting Lowell park, in which direction the seven Chicago Negroes were headed following Sunday's break. He stressed the fact that the vicious type of patients cannot be closely confined at the local institution and the breaks similiar to the Sunday delivery, have not been infrequent.

Urges New Institution

"The need is definitely evident for the construction of an institution after the war, to take care of wholly psychopathic and defective delinquent cases above the age of 16 years, when convicted of crime, thus guaranteeing the citizens of Illinois, not only their own personal safety, but assurance that this type of criminal will be confined in the institution best fitted for their supervision and care.

"I am informed that several million dollars are already available for this purpose, and such a project is worthy of serious consideration if the citizens are to receive the protection to which they are entitled."

In his letter to Director Brandon, Representative Prescott referred to the records of each of the nine Negroes who participated in Sunday's break, one of whom had been shot during a holdup in Chicago, another who had committed a vicious assault upon a woman during the period of one of his escapes from the Dixon institution.

MERCHANT FLEET FROZEN

By STANLEY ROSS

Buenos Aires, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Argentine military government froze movements of the state merchant fleet today as one of the first follow-up actions to its diplomatic break with the axis, all vessels being directed to remain in port "until new orders."

It was expected here, however, that the tieup would not last long, since Argentine economy largely depends on the free movement of the merchant fleet.

(Although no reason was given for the freezing order, it seemed apparent that the Ramirez government deemed it unwise to expose the vessels to the menace of any lurking enemy submarine in the south Atlantic until some provision could be made for their protection, possibly in convoys).

The War Today

to be incorporated in Russia or Poland, or is the Polish government in exile to determine this point?

It is, of course, the anxious hope of the United States and Britain that this dispute will be settled by Russia and Poland themselves. This hope must persist despite Moscow's rejection—in cordial terms—of America's offer to employ its good offices in restoring diplomatic relations between Poland and Russia. Our offer, by the way, was not concerned with mediation of the territorial dispute.

But supposing there is no agreement between the Russians and the Poles, and the Muscovites just go ahead and reoccupy the territory in dispute? Who does what to make Russia give up this land?

The chief allies already have agreed that successful prosecution of the war, and the maintenance of peace, depend on continued amicable cooperation among the big three — Russia, America and Britain. It's generally conceded among statesmen and other observers that a rupture of relations among the trio would mean another world war.

This being so it would seem absurd to think that either the United States or Britain would go to the extreme of causing a break with Russia over a territorial change which already was a fait accompli before America came into the war. This doesn't mean, however, that the Atlantic Charter declaration regarding annexations has been eased out. Mr. Eden has reaffirmed it, and it must remain one of the cardinal tenets of the United Nations.

Spain Reaffirms Her Neutrality Today in Face of High Pressure

Madrid, Jan. 27—(AP)—Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, Spanish foreign minister, reaffirmed Spain's neutrality today despite what he said was a war of nerves by the belligerents to force her to choose between the two sides.

The foreign minister's statement to the Falangist party newspaper Arriba said that Spain "is determined to assure respect for rights which are due her as a neutral, persecuting with all severity the plans of foreigners who disturb internal order and the line of her policy."

Jimmy Stewart Spurns Promotion Ahead of Others

By FRANKLIN F. BANKER

A U. S. Liberator Bomber Base, England, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Capt. Jimmy Stewart, formerly of Hollywood and now leader of a Liberator bomber squadron, is the talk of his airmates at this base because he startled a superior officer by turning down a promotion to major.

Friends of the actor, who won his wings the hard way, quoted him as explaining his refusal by saying that he didn't want to be raised to a higher rank "until my junior officers get promoted from lieutenant."

The lanky star of "Mr. Smith goes to Washington" remained mum about the incident because, like Capt. Clark Gable, he has been assiduously avoiding the limelight since he reluctantly granted a press conference on his arrival two months ago.

Stewart has piloted his bomber on three raids—as a squadron commander he flies only occassionally—and fellow fliers say he did a "swell job."

On the ground he puts in long hours at executive work. One night an officer found him plugging away at 2 a. m. and commented: "You're working pretty late."

"Oh, lots of them work late around here," Jimmy replied quietly.

Friends say Stewart has avoided social gatherings, except for occasional appearances at the officer's club where he usually is the life of the party and the group's favorite pianist.

Bevy of U. S. Nurses Welcomed by Yanks in Burmese Jungle

BY THOBURN WIANT

In the Northern Burma Jungle, Jan. 20 — (Delayed) — (AP)—Something new but definitely nice has been added to the northern Burma jungle.

It is a bevy of Army nurses—the first in Burma. Members of the "Foreign Legion" field hospital, they arrived wearing unflattering fatigue uniforms, but they looked mighty good to Americans, some of whom hadn't seen a white woman in six months.

The honor of being the first two American nurses in Burma went to Lt. Ruth Walters, Columbus, Ohio, chief nurse, and 2nd. Lt. Mary Riney, Louisville, Ky. They arrived a few days ago to arrange accommodations and then returned to lead 12 others back into this jungle.

The nurses included 2nd. Lt. Ruth Storckman, New Douglas, Ill.

Before coming into the jungle the nurses trained for a month, hiking 15 miles some days wth full packs and cooking their meals in the open. They are administering to Chinese forces clearing the Hukawang valley so the Ledo road can be driven through to connect with the old Burma road.

Loses Citizenship Because She Loves Hitler and Germany

Detroit, Jan. 27—(AP)—Johanna Treiber, 53, German-born hospital nurse here who surrendered her American citizenship, said today "I worship the ground Hitler walks on" but denied having said she would "kiss Hitler's foot."

"Mr. Hitler would not like one of his subjects to kiss anyone's foot," she told reporters. "He's not a carzy man."

Yesterday, in announcing Miss Treibers application for cancellation of citizenship, Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis M. Hopping quoted her as saying "If I could return to Germany I'd be so glad I would kiss Hitler's foot."

Miss Treiber said she did not believe in the United States' form of government and was "much fonder of Germany."

Federal Judge Edward J. Moinet cancelled Miss Treiber's citizenship, observing "your honesty and sincerity are to be commended."

Hopping said the court action did not make Miss Treiber deportable. She did not make known her plans.

New Thunderbolts Give Fritz Something Else as Cause for Worry

At a U. S. 15th Air Force Fighter Base in Italy, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Veteran fighter groups of the 15th air force, now equipped with new P-47 Thunderbolts, are finding German pilots reluctant to being playful with American fighters as the nazis once were inclined.

Pilots of this battle-hardened fighter group switched from P-40 Warhawks to the Thunderbolts, which has an official speed of 400 miles per hour, and now they are willing and ready to tackle German fighters at any altitude from "the deck" to 40,000 feet.

Lt. Phil Whiteside of West Frankfort, Ill., who has 44 missions to his credit and who downed two German planes with the P-40's was enthusiastic about his chances with the new ship.

"It is a very easy plane to fly and has great maneuverability," he said.

Leaves from an AP War Correspondent's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

An Air Base in Italy, Jan. 16—(Delayed)— (AP)—Newly-trained American bomber crews are pouring into Italy in a steady stream from the United States to swell the might of the 15th air force, which already is dealing battering ram blows at German industries from the south.

It is a tonic to see these fresh, green, stocky kids, who are only days away from the homeland. They pretend a knowledge of the war they do not actually have, and betray their inexperience by their intense interest in every trivial incident. They are stepping into the big time, and they want to know all about it.

I rode over from North Africa today with a crew of B-24 Liberator recruits. They swarmed into the transport like eager puppies. Each packed a .45 automatic and a heavy, long-bladed sheath knife.

"Look at 'em," grinned the crew chief of the transport, a veteran sergeant. "They are as green as wet paint. From all the guns they are carting around you would think we were going to land right in the middle of a battalion of Germans or Japs. After they've been here a while they'll get tired of carrying around all that metal and park their guns until they really need 'em."

But this crew was resourceful. Before the take-off they checked their baggage and found they were short two bedrolls and two handbags.

"My handbag had all my clothes in it," lamented a sergeant. They held a quick council of war.

"Somebody stole our stuff," said one. "Okay, the only thing for us to do is steal what we need."

This is typical of the GI morality and standard operating procedure in this man's army. Four of the crew climbed out of the plane, ran into the station and emerged with two bed rolls and two handbags.

"Look," said one, tossing a bag to the sergeant. "This belonged to a lieutenant. I got you a quick promotion."

"I don't give a damn about the promotion," said the sergeant. "I just hope some of the clothes fit me."

The men joked and kidded each other constantly. They had been training together for three months and were as close as brothers.

On the way to Italy one of the gunners, a tall clean-cut boy with a likeable smile, vomited three times, although the ride was far from bumpy.

"He's always getting airsick," said one of his friends. "I don't know what the hell he will do when we get into combat."

The crew chief of the transport looked back at the tense figure.

"I don't know what will happen to him," he said. "He will be grounded if he can't take a smooth hop like this. He will not be able to stand up under an eight hour round trip to Germany. As a sick gunner he will not be any help to you. He would be a handicap."

The crew looked at one another in silence. They did not like to think about being separated or broken up. They did not want to be reminded of the weeding out process that is always under way in war.

As the transport landed at their bomber base and wheeled off the runway the wintry sky echoed with the vibration of many motors. A great flight of four-engined bombers was returning from a mission.

One plane fired a colored flare as it circled the field.

"That means it has some wounded on board," said one of the new crew. "I wonder what happened on the raid."

An ambulance rolled out as the bomber came in. The ten newcomers watched for several seconds, and each had his own thoughts.

"What a welcome," said one.

"Well," answered another, "nobody told us to come over here to play marbles."

They turned their backs on the runway, picked up their baggage and started toward a hangar.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Green River Plant Workers Sent War Aid to Many Fronts

Green River ordnance plant is speeding a vast amount of ammunition to seventy-six global invasion fronts in record-breaking time.

Major Norman E. Gillespie, commanding officer of the Green River ordnance plant, states that orders and requisitions from combat units have A1 priority. Requisitions may be received for any amount of various types of ammunition at any time, often requests being made for shipment within 24 or 48 hours from time of notice. The employees are called upon to load cars for overseas shipments into the wee hours of the night and often get them out BEFORE the deadline. Whatever the request, Green River ordnance plant is repared to fill it in jig time.

When an order is received for overseas shipment, the items are promptly prepared, all having previously been weatherproofed for additional protection to insure their arrival in workable condition in any part of the world.

Thousands of Army Ordnance Field Service Employees engaged in loading carloads of ammunition do not know their destination. All addresses for overseas shipments are in code and even the ports to which they must be shipped before being placed aboard a cargo vessel, are known to but few officers. The code system, however, successfully carries the carloads of ammunition to their proper destination to be used on any battlefront.

The men at the fronts extend their thanks to the employees of Green River ordnance plant who are doing a fine job and they know you will keep up the good work which certainly will help bring this war to a speedy victory.

Chicago Packers Cited For Exceeding Quotas by Many Million Pounds

Chicago, Jan. 26—(AP) — The H. Graver company, Chicago meat packers, and two of its officials were charged with slaughtering 18,000,000 pounds of meat over quotas in a criminal information filed in federal court today.

The information charged the company and Harry A. Graver, general manager, and Leroy C. Blackburn, secretary, with 15 violations of War Food Administration regulations.

Richard G. Finn, assistant U. S. attorney, said the alleged violations constituted the largest over-slaughter case in the nation. He said the beef, veal and pork involved found its way into markets all over the country.

At the company offices Blackburn said he had no statement to make on the case.

Thirty-one Thousand Tons of Bombs Land on Europe in January

London, Jan. 27—(AP)—Allied planes operating from bases in Britain and the Mediterranean have dropped 31,000 tons of bombs on Hitler's European fortress since Jan. 1, according to RAF estimates, thereby probably setting a record for a single month.

Of the total, 22,000 tons were dropped by the allied air forces based in Britain, and the remainder was loosed by Mediterranean fliers—mostly on Italy and the Balkans.

The Gay Illiterate by Louella Parsons Is Interesting Book

"The Gay Illiterate" is a new book that will hold a great interest for Dixon people as well as the world at large because it is an autobiography by Miss Louella O. Parsons, internationally famous movie commentator and columnist and former Dixonite whose writing career started in Dixon and who is universally admired and loved by the residents of her girlhood home.

"The Gay Illiterate" is the life story of a great reporter, America's most renouned and successful newspaper woman and is chock full of intimate and interesting details of a life that has become fabulous in newspaper annals. Dixon receives considerable attention in the book and a number of local people are mentioned.

Miss Parson writes, "But the real thrill of my life was the Louella Parsons Day in my home town, Dixon, Illinois. That was no make-believe spotlighted honor played before strangers. Here was the big moment of a lifetime to the girl who used to be known as Louella Oettinger, at the invitation of people I had known and loved all my life—the home folks." And she gives several pages to details of the event staged by Louella's admirers in Dixon.

A disarming frankness and revealing confession runs through the volume but in spite of quite apparent truthfulness it is a sympathetic and kindly narrative of the strength and weaknesses of Miss Parsons' famous friends in Hollywood. She hasn't a mean word to say about anyone but herself. Real humor, honest warmth, enlightening facts, all cleverly presented, make "The Gay Illiterate" a book that will absorb your interest throughout every page. It is an inspiring records of the returns of the author's ever-blazing ambition and untiring energy. Her unequaled success in her field came entirely from her own efforts. She had no preparation for the work and no backing—but she had the vital spark that provided the initiative and singlemindedness of purpose and she drove herself through the pinnacle of her profession and remarkable achievement.

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

by JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The two main questions on the tortured soldier vote debate have been broken into the open: Whether Negro soldiers should be permitted to ballot and whether President Roosevelt would have an advantage over any opponent in the 1944 elections.

More than a year of argument has come down to this:

Senator Overton (D-La) said "Let's be frank. x x x Down in the solid south we've got to retain our state voting qualifications to preserve white supremacy."

And Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed fear that the servicemen would know the name of Roosevelt better than any other in a national election and therefore would be apt to write in the word "democrat" no matter who ran for congress.

(It is likely that servicemen from 18 to perhaps 25 years of age can remember clearly no other president except Mr. Roosevelt since he has been in office 12 years, the greater part of their mature lives.)

Two ideas are implicit in what Taft said: Mr. Roosevelt will be fourth term candidate and the soldier vote—if it goes for Mr. Roosevelt—will sweep Republicans out of congress, providing servicemen vote a straight Democratic ticket.

This is the score to date:

Congress in 1942 passed a bill giving servicemen the right to vote if they first asked their secretaries of state for a ballot. This meant they had to write in for ballots which they filled out and returned.

In spite of the hundreds of thousands of men in the armed forces in 1942 only about 28,000 voted by this system.

But under that law no serviceman, white or Negro, was required to pay a poll tax or register no matter what his state requirements were. This became a vital issue as the important 1944 elections drew nearer.

Having seen how few soldiers voted under their 1942 law, Senators Green (D-RI) and Lucas (D-Ill) last fall offered an amendment which would eliminate requests for ballots altogether.

Instead, a special ballot commission would have sent out ballots for voting on president, vice president and congressmen only. This did not provide for voting on state or county officers. The ballots would be distributed through the Army and Navy which would have returned them to the commission for tabulation.

Then suddenly there arose screams that states' rights were being violated, particularly among southern congressmen.

(In spite of any constitutional guarantees of right to vote, only a handful of Negroes ever get to vote in the south because of various restrictions and tests.)

But if the 1942 and 1943 Green-Lucas measures meant anything at all they meant that Negroes, from states where they never could have voted in peacetime, could vote now and that poor white soldiers from states which required a poll tax could also vote free of charge.

There was a deep-lying implication in all this: Would Negro troops who were allowed to vote in wartime be content to resume their old non-voting position once they returned to the south in peacetime?)

So the senate hurdled all these difficulties by passing—not the Green-Lucas amendment—but an amendment to the 1942 law offered by a Mississippi Democrat, Senator Eastland:

There would be no ballot commission. Each state simply was advised by the congress to do what it could to help its soldiers vote. This seemed simple, but it wasn't.

There are all kinds of individual state requirements on voting: Some demand polltaxes, some require preliminary registration; and some do not print their ballots until 10 days before election.

How could a state, printing its ballots only ten days before election, get them to some distant war zone? They couldn't.

Now Green and Lucas have come forth with another proposal, the one endorsed yesterday by the president, which would work this way:

A federal ballot commission would be created; the various secretaries of state would provide the commission with the names of the presidential, vice presidential, and congressional candidates in each state.

The commission would give this information to the Army and Navy. They would distribute the candidates' names and the ballots to the armed forces everywhere.

The servicemen could vote for candidates by name or party, and the ballots would be returned to the ballot commission which in turn would send them back to the various secretaries of state.

Then they could be counted or rejected, depending on the individual states' voting requirements.

FUEL SUPPLIES BELOW NORMAL

At the end of 1943, civilian supplies of gasoline were estimated at 42.5 below normal; kerosene, 50.8 per cent; light fuel, 84.1 per cent; heavy fuel oil, 68 per cent.

ARMY SHOES REBUILT

By issuing six million pairs of rebuilt shoes in 1943, the Army Quartermaster Corps saved 20 million square feet of leather and about $7,000,000.

U. of I. Prepares Special Service for War Veterans

Chicago, Jan. 26—(AP)—The University of Illinois trustees today established a division of special services for war veterans and gave it wide powers to deal with individual cases of admission, credits, courses of study and degree requirements.

The action, a spokesman said, indicated the university's expectancy of a large postwar attendance by veterans, with the problem of their adjustment complicated by an increase in civilian students. Many war veterans already are enrolled.

President Arthur Cutts Willard said the new division would study needs of the returning veterans; inform them of various university services and advise them in matters of educational aim and adjustment; help them find the curricula best suited; and administer the educational program of veterans whose special needs are not satisfied by existing curricula.

A director and five-member executive council of the division will be appointed from the faculty.

The trustees also announced receipt of a valuable collection of art objects from Bali and other oriental lands now under Japanese domination, presented as a memorial to James E. Ewing, former American minister to Belgium, and his wife, Katherine.

The gift was made by Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Ewing of Bloomington, and other members of the family, to the college of fine and applied arts.

Legion to Entertain Militia Co. Tonight

Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion, will entertain Company A, Dixon's unit of the Illinois Reserve Militia at the Legion hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Following the regular meeting of the post a social hour will be held during which refreshments will be served, together with a program of entertainment.

Major James A. Brady and Captain Baldwin of the 6th Corps Command, together with numerous officers from Mt. Morris, Rockford and other cities will be present. All members of the Legion Post are earnestly urged to attend.

Business Houses in Dixon may order their Ledgers and Binders of the B. F. Shaw Printing Company.

'Father of Tanks'

J. Walter Christie, called "father of the modern tank" and of blitzkrieg, now 80 years old and penniless, is pictured in his Falls Church, Va., home. His attorneys say that Christie, sole inventor of the tank that bears his name, and used by all combatants in this war, had a contract with the War Department under which he was to receive royalties on every tank produced, which fees, they claim, have never been paid.

O. E. S.-Mason Party

The members of the Foster chapter of the Order of Eastern Star and the Corinthian Masonic lodge gathered at the hall Monday evening for a party in honor of Teresa Bayne, grand lecturer, of LaSalle, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Firkins. Income Taxes

EARNED INCOME— DEDUCTIBLE EXPENSE

In figuring the amount of your salary, wages and other compensation for personal services you may deduct any ordinary and necessary personal expenses incurred in earning this income.

If your employer or anyone else reimburses you for your expense or gives you a travel allowance or expense account, these amounts must be included in your wages or other compensation.

A distinction must be made, however, between expense attributable to your employment—which can be deducted—and personal expense, which may not be deducted. A few examples will illustrate:

Expenses of travel in connection with your employment, or business, are deductible. Such expense ordinarily includes transportation, meals and lodging, but it does not include the cost of laundry, clothes pressing, and other expenses of a nature which would be incurred if you stayed home.

Travel expenses deductions, to be allowable, must be supported when required by the Commissioner by a statement showing (1) the nature of business (2) number of days away from home, (3) amount of expenses incident to meals and lodging, (4) amount of other expenses claimed as a deduction.

Expenses of a salesman in entertaining customers for the purpose of getting business, including taxicabs, theater tickets and diners, telephone and telegraph messages, and the like, are deductible. However, this type of expense may not be deducted by an officer or employee of a corporation whose contract of employment does ont specifically requre him to make such expenditures.

Expense of getting to and from work, such as commuters' fares and bus and street car fares, are considered as personal expenses, and are not deductible.

A person on a roving commission and maintaining no permanent home is not entitled to expenses for meals and lodging while traveling.

In the case of shared travel, as in a car or hotel rooms, the expenses must be prorated and only the share of the taxpayer is deductible.

The amounts spent in seeking a job, as well as the cost of traveling to the place where a new job is to be taken up, are personal expenses and are not deductible. Fees paid to an employment agency, however, are deductible.

Membership fees in a labor union, or in an organization which renders a protective service to its members, are alowable deductions.

Cost of uniforms and equipment is deductible expense to the extent (1) that such are specifically required and (2) that they do not take the place of ordinary clothing in civil life. Uniforms of nurses, railway trainmen, barbers, and surgeons are held to take the place of ordinary clothing, and their cost, accordingly, is not deductible. Cost of military and naval uniforms and related equipment, such as gold lace and gilt buttons, is not deductible, but the cost of certain items, such as corps devices, campaign bars, and the like, which are especially required by the profession, is deductible.

The uniforms of baseball players, and other professional athletes are not considered clothing adapted to general wear, and their cost is deductible. The same also applies to the cost of helmets, rubber coats and rubber boots required to be purchased and worn by city firemen, and the cost of rubber coats and rubber boots required to be purchased and worn by city policemen.

Approximately one-fifth of the nation's agricultural land can no longer supply a living because of erosion and soil depletion.

A 1941 census in the Dominion of Canada showed that 27 per cent of all homes were in need of repair.
